former Judge and Prominent Member of the Bar Dead at 78.

Ex-Judge Henry Elias Howland is dead of apoplexy at his home, 10 East Tenth street, in his seventy-ninth year. Death was not sudden.

Mr. Howland was born at Walpole, N. H., in 1835. He was the son of Aaron P. and Hulda (Burke) Howland. The history of the Howland family in New England is known from the time of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

Mr. Howland was graduated from Yale University in 1854 with degree of A. B. and in 1893 received his degree of A. M. He took his law degree at the Harvard Law School and shortly afterward came to this city to practise, having been admitted to the bar the year of his graduation.

During the civil war he enlisted as a sergeant in the Twenty-second New York regiment, and served in the field (1862-1863), coming out as a captain.

His practice increased very rapidly after the war. In 1873 he was appointed Judge of the Marine Court by Gov. Dix. From 1875 to 1877 he was a member of the Board of Aldermen. In 1880 he was president of the department of taxes, receiving his appointment from Mayor. ceiving his appointment from Mayor

Mr. Howland labored unceasingly for the advancement of Yale University and since 1892 had been a fellow of the Yale Corporation. Although he lived an extremely busy life he found time for much charitable and civic work. He was president of the Manhattan State Hospital for the Insane (1895-1905). He was president of the Society fort he Preservation of the Adirondacks and led the fight in 1901 against the spoliation of the forests
